Program Year 2022 Funding Recommendations for Youth Violence Prevention

Youth Violence Prevention Grant Program

Created by Ordinance 2001-82, the Allocation Advisory Committee for Prevention Programs (AAC) was established as a partial replacement for the Tacoma-Pierce County Commission on Children, Youth, and their Families (Children's Commission) after that body was dissolved in 2001. Chapter 4.28 of the Pierce County Code (PCC) sets forth that at least 20 percent of Pierce County's tax revenues received annually because of the authority granted in RCW 82.14.340, pursuant to PCC 4.28.110, shall be expended on prevention and related preventative children's services. Fifty-two percent, of the 20 percent, shall be allocated by recommendation of the AAC and approval of the County Council. The responsibility for overseeing the operation of the Youth Violence Program was assigned to the Department of Human Services.

Funded activities may include prevention, intervention, and community mobilization. The Council's authorizing Ordinance established the following requirements for projects to be funded under this program. These requirements apply only to activities funded in whole or in part with county funding.

- Activities must serve unincorporated areas and the residents of those areas.
- Activities must be sustainable. They must create a long-term reduction, elimination, or prevention of actual or potential violence, not just a transitory condition that will end after their participation in the activity is finished.
- Activities must focus to the greatest extent possible on children and youth. While family participation is important, activities targeting children and youth should have the greatest emphasis.
- Activities must be demonstrable. They must have clear and concise goals, objectives, and outcomes.
- If possible, activities identified as 'best practices' should be funded. It is important for the long-term benefit of the community that activities funded have the greatest opportunity for success. Accordingly, activities identified in this or other jurisdictions as a 'best practice' are to be encouraged.
