

Where can I find farm management and support services?

There are a number of organizations working together to help Pierce County farmers grow and manage their farms. We've gathered many of them below.

King-Pierce Farm Bureau

King-Pierce Farm Bureau is a non-profit, membership organization that supports agriculture by giving farmers and ranchers a collective voice. They support agricultural education, youth programs, and the economic well being and quality of life for farm families.

<http://king-piercefb.org/>

Northwest Agriculture Business Center

The Northwest Agriculture Business Center helps farmers prepare business plans that include financial projections. These plans can help guide business start-ups or expansions.

<http://www.agbizcenter.org/>

Pierce Conservation District

The Pierce Conservation District helps landowners manage natural resources on forest and agricultural land, riparian areas, fish and wildlife sites, and other types of rural and urban areas through farm planning services.

<http://www.piercecountycd.org/>

Tilth Producers of Washington State

The Tilth Producers of Washington offers several programs to farmers and agriculture professionals through education, networking and advocacy.

<http://tilthproducers.org/>

Washington Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau works to represent the social and economic interests of farm and ranch families at the local, state and national levels. The Washington Farm Bureau seeks to gain public support on the issues affecting farm and ranch families by providing leadership and organizational skills.

<http://www.wsfb.com/>

Washington Farm Service Agency – United States Department of Agriculture

The United States Department of Agriculture Farm Service Agency offers conservation, price support, farm loans, and disaster assistance programs. Farm Service Agency places special emphasis on providing loans to beginning, minority and women farmers and ranchers.

<http://www.fsa.usda.gov/>

Washington Sustainable Food and Farming Network

The Washington Sustainable Food and Farming Network is a nonprofit organization that uses education, organizing and advocacy to advance sustainable food and farming programs and policies in Washington State.

<http://wsffn.org/>

Washington State University Extension

WSU offers many resources to help farmers adopt sustainable farming practice, including educational programs and research-based information.

<http://csanr.wsu.edu/>

This fact sheet is for informational purposes only. It is not complete, and does not constitute an endorsement.