What are we learning?

We are continuing our study on buildings!

During our last zoom class we drew pictures of where we live. We talked about the shapes that we used in our drawings and counted how many windows we saw. We will continue to explore this topic over the next few weeks by learning about how buildings are made and the people and tools used to build them.

We will be out of the office on Monday, January 18th in observance of Martin Luther King Jr day

Zoom schedule

Monday & Tuesday
at 10:00 am and 2:00 pm
Thursday with the Pierce
County Librarians
10:00 am and 2:00 pm

Have you heard the news!?

Ms. Keely and Ms. Jennifer have been making fun and educational and well, let's just be honest, pretty amazing videos for your children to watch. 😊

Research participants needed! If you or someone you know is a family member or a caregiver of a child with autism (formally diagnosed or not), you or they could participate in the Institute of Museum and Library Services' research and be compensated! Please see description below and feel free to share with others.

AUTISM READY LIBRARIES

Are you a family member or caregiver of an autistic child?

Are library visits challenging?

Help us create welcoming libraries with the resources to serve you!

Participate in our interviews or focus groups and earn a $50 gift card

We are asking you to participate in a research project conducted by faculty and students from the Information School at the University of Washington. Funded by the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS), this research investigates the early literacy needs of autistic children and their families relevant to public libraries. You do not have to be a library patron to participate in this study, and your child does not have to have a formal autism diagnosis for you to participate. We will ask for 60-90 minutes of your time.

* We've chosen to use identity first language in this research as it is preferred by autistic self advocates and their allies
